

GOD, GIVE COMFORT ONCE AGAIN
(Response to the Events of September 11, 200a)

God, give comfort once again
To your people, to this land.
Insecure, unsure we stand.
God, give comfort once again.
Bring us laughter; send relief
To our sadness, in our grief.
In the homes of those bereaved,
Bring us laughter; send relief.

Let your peace invade our hearts
In the deepest frightened parts
Wounded by the fiery darts.
Let your peace invade our hearts.
Grant us mercy, lavish grace
In this country, every place;
Show, O God, your loving face.
Grant us mercy, lavish grace.

Let your liberty prevail
When our human plans may fail;
Set us free to serve you well.
Let your liberty prevail.
Give us hope to face these days.
In the midst of smoke and haze,
We would salt our world with praise.
Give us hope to face these days.

Words: R. G. Huff

Tune: ST. GEORGE'S WINDSOR